Street Railway, Started 34 Years Ago To Boost Marion, Ends Operation Today

Streetcar on Marion Street, Marion, Ohio, showing the streetcar and the streetcar company's building.

Enterprise Launched by Public Spirited Citizens in 1894 Will Pass from Scene Tonight, Crowded Out by Modern Motor Car Transportation

For the public road, to improve Marion, and never expected to retire any substantial points on our investment.

This statement, made by Henry Strelitz, pioneer in local street railway promotion, is an expression of the spirit which prompted the launching of Marion's first public transportation system.

Mr. Strelitz, now 73 years old, but as vigorous and active as a man of 50 or younger, was one of the original directors of the Marion Street Railway Co.

It was from him that much information was obtained as the history of the street railway system in Marion, and the story of its growth and development.

The original franchise was granted to the company on Feb. 7, 1894, according to city records, although Mr. Strelitz believes that construction work was started in 1891 under an older franchise, rights in which were bought from Daniel Root, who, before his death, was a prominent officer of the company.

At the time of the company's organization, the street railway was a small affair, with only a few cars and a single line of track.
But it grew rapidly, and by 1900 it was a well-established enterprise, with a fleet of cars and a network of tracks covering a large portion of the city.

Over the years, the street railway has been a mainstay of Marion's transportation system, and it has been a source of pride and confidence to the citizens of the city.

But now, as the modern motor car has taken its place, the street railway is being phased out, and its operation will end tonight.

The street railway was started 34 years ago, and it has been a part of Marion's history ever since.
It has been a witness to the city's growth and development, and it has been a part of the lives of many of the people who have lived in Marion.

As the street railway is phased out, it is a reminder of the changes that have taken place in Marion over the years, and it is a reminder of the progress that has been made in the city's transportation system.

TERMS OF SALE

The 141 lots offered in this special sale for cash are all specially priced for this sale to raise cash. The way to raise cash and raise it quickly is to make real bargains for the buyer. The merchants are doing it every day. Vernon Heights is doing it now. This sale is to raise needed cash. Cash must be raised to meet maturing obligations and at the prices fixed wise buyers are going to exchange their cash for real bargains in real estate.

While this is a cash sale there may be buyers who do not have all their cash available. For such buyers we have made arrangements with one of our building and loan associations to finance such buyers for a part of their purchase price and these loans can be paid out one per cent a month. For instance. You want a lot for $1,000.00. You have $700.00 in cash. The loan association will loan you the other $300 and you pay the loan $3.00 or more a month until your loan is paid.
